Meeting Notes – October 15, 2025, by Kristin Rongve, Photos by Abbie Vomacka & Rod Mont

Even before the meeting, we had an interesting development. President Sheila decided that we would be seated in accordance to the number of siblings that we have. Denise L. almost sat by herself because she has a LOT. But Hillary B. sat with her so that Denise was not lonely. It forced us all to sit with new groups – which was fun. President Sheila asked Rod M. to play O’ Canada. He did! We sang! She then asked Bonnie M. to do the Inspiration. There was a ‘deer in the headlight’ moment and Rod M. did the job. President Sheila then asked Tanya F. to do introductions of guests and visiting Rotarians. There were none. Seriously. What did you guys do while I was gone that no one wants to visit us anymore? Acting Sergeant at Arms, Theo P. did the assignment of tables. My table went second!

President Sheila also handed out a few envelopes to people. We were asked to open them and prepare to answer the questions inside. Leslie D.: who do you believe would be the most likely in the club to go over the top on Halloween decorations? Answer: Abbie V. (and she acknowledged it is true, and an inherited trait from family). Ken H.: if you had two separate consciousnesses and had to choose between the daytime and nighttime one, which would you choose? Answer: a Daybreak Rotarian has to choose daytime! Denise D.: if you had to choose between being attacked by one horse-sized duck or 10 duck-sized horses, which would you choose? Answer: ducks are mean (so I think 10 duck sized horses?) Which kind of is consistent with Denise’s love of horses. Doug O.: if you could make any fruit/vegetable into a living pet, what would you choose? Answer: cauliflower (?!) Mike H.: something like what is a conversation that you constantly want to have (bad notes were taken)? Answer: what is Doug L. going to do today? Kris R.: if one member of the club was really a fictional character brought into the real world, who is it and what was the character? Answer: Duane S., a trickster elf. Clearly! Tanya F.: if you could morph into any animal, what would it be? Answer: a bird or an eagle. Abbie V.: if you could have anything in the world to give you more time, what would it be? Answer: a hair and makeup team in the morning. Pat K.: if you had extra time, what would you do? Answer: an online course. Doug L.: if your life was a movie, what type would it be and who would play you? Answer: porn and Mandingo. I think that I speak for the club. TMI. Way TMI! Alan R.: if your life was a movie, what type would it be and who would play you? Answer: Adventure or Sci Fi and Harrison Ford. Again, speaking for the club. Someone needs to follow Alan around. Clearly, his life is way exciting! Rick S: if your aura has a colour, what is it? Answer: golden brown. Oddly specific.

Then President Sheila took over and gave out a Paul Harris fellow to Scott M. It was given to him by the members of the club. Richly deserved!

President Sheila asked Pat K. for a Rotary Minute and got another 'deer in headlight' look but he rose to the occasion with a lovely quote. President Sheila then asked Bill B. to do 50/50. He reported that a past member, Jim McIvor, says hi to the club and then called a number. After a long delay, Rod M. realized he had the number and won the $55. Theo P. the Sergeant thing with one memorable fine to Doug O. for excessive clapping, excessive enthusiasm and excessive sarcasm. It prompted Doug O. to excessively clap for the remaining minutes of the meeting.

We did the test and the toast and the departure (about 10 minutes before the usual end of the meeting!)
